Resolutions of Condolence

Whereas it having pleased Almighty God in His infinite Wisdom to take from us our beloved associate and co-worker, P. G. Keith and whereas we deeply deplore his loss,

Now therefore, be it resolved: That we the President, the Board of Directors and the Officers of the Bank of Campbell do hereby tender our heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved widow and family and trust that He who tempers the wind to the Shorn Lamb will comfort and support them in this their great bereavement.

Christmas Exercises

The Congregational Church was crowded to the doors at the Sunday School Christmas exercises on the 22nd. The programme of songs, recitations, drills was well carried out. The holly-drill by the girls; the workman's song by the boys, and the "Birds Christmas Carol" were especially pleasing. One lady—not a member of the Church or Sunday School—said it was the best Christmas programme she had ever seen. The Church was prettily decorated with greens, wreaths, etc., and the three electric transparencies with their softened light added to the Christmas beauty and spirit.

Christmas Games

An all-star combination made up of the old married men's baseball club, the young men's club, pupils from the High School and Grammar School, played a lively ball game on the High School diamond Christmas afternoon. It was a free-and-easy game all round, and honors were about equal when the game finished.

During the progress of the baseball game a basketball game was going on between the Alumni of the High School and the regular High School team. Two games were played and the regular team scored heavily against the alumni. Both games were witnessed by a large number of Campbell fans.

Dr. Wm. Beattie visited his parents here several days last week. He will spend his vacation at the St. Mary's Hospital, Sacramento, and after the completion of his course in medicine at the Cooper Medical Institute next spring he will take a position as resident physician at the hospital.

DIED

Peter G. Keith passed away at his home on Hamilton avenue yesterday morning at about seven o'clock. He was 87 years, 10 months and 20 days old. Several weeks ago he received a fall which rendered him almost helpless, and which probably hastened his death. He was a sincere Christian man, a member of the Methodist Church, and held in highest esteem by all who knew him. The funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:30 o'clock at the cemetery in Santa Clara.

Minnie O. Magnuson died last Monday at her home on Pollard road. She was 38 years, 1 month and 13 days old, a native of Minnesota, and had lived here for the last three years. She was the beloved daughter of Mrs. Christine Magnuson and sister of Mrs. Jennie Schmidt, Cressy; Mrs. Mary Ekdahl, Minn.; Mrs. Lottie Masters, Palo Alto; Mrs. Eleanor Newell and Katherine, William G., George L. and Walter C. Magnuson.

The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the family home. The Rev. Mr. Carter of Los Altos officiated and the burial was in the Los Gatos cemetery.

IN DAYS OF ROBBER BARONS

George Elliot's Picture of Life When They Inhabited the Castles of the Rhine.

Those ruins on the castled Rhine have crumbled and mellowed into such harmony with the green and rocky steeps that they seem to have a natural fitness, like the mountain pine; nay, even in the day when they were built, they must have had this fitness, as if they had been raised by an earth-born race who had inherited from their mighty parent a sublime instinct of form. And that was a day of romance!

If those robber barons were somewhat grim and drunken ogres, they had a certain grandeur of the wild beast in them—they were forest boars with tusks, tearing and rending, not the ordinary domestic grunter; they represented the demon forces forever in collision with beauty, virtue and the gentle uses of life; they made a fine contrast in the picture with the wandering minstrel, the soft-lipped princess, the pious recluse and the timid Israelite.

That was a time of color, when the sunlight fell on glancing steel and floating banners; a time of adventure and fierce struggle—nay, of living religious art and religious enthusiasm; for were not cathedrals built in those days and did not great emperors leave their western palaces to die before the infidel strongholds in the east? Therefore it is that these Rhine castles thrill me with a sense of poetry; they belong to the grand historic life of humanity and raise up for me the vision of an epoch. But these dead-tinted, hollow-eyed, angular skeletons of villages on the Rhine oppress me with the feeling that human life—very much of it—is a narrow, ugly, groveling existence which even calamity does not elevate, but rather tends to exhibit in all its bare vulgarity of conception; and I have a cruel conviction that the lives these ruins are the traces of were part of a gross sum of obscure vitality that will be swept into the same oblivion with the generations of ants and beavers.—George Elliot in "The Mill on the Floss."

Last of Trentham Hall.

One of the finest country homes in England is soon to fall into the hands of the house wrecker. This is the famous Trentham hall, seat of the duke of Sutherland, which has been made uninhabitable by the sewage from adjacent pottery towns, which has been emptied into the river Trent, once the great ornament of the park. The library and the works of art have been disposed of, and now the house is to be dismantled and the estate sold. Trentham hall stands on the site of a nunnery which was in existence in King Alfred's time. It was succeeded by an Augustinian priory, which again formed part of the old hall, which passed into the hands of Henry VIII. at the time of the dissolution. The king presented it to Charles Brandon, duke of Suffolk, who had married his sister, and the house and lands subsequently passed to the old Staffordshire family, the Levesons, who rose to eminence through Nicholas Leveson, a London merchant, who was lord mayor in 1539. The first mansion of which anything definite is known was built by Sir Richard Leveson, and was inherited by his grand-nephew, Richard Leveson-Gower, who, succeeding also to the estate of the Gowers of Stellenham, another old family, united the two names, and founded the family of which the present duke of Sutherland is the head.

Her Course Outlined.

A young newspaper woman, disturbed in her dreams of future happiness, decided to consult a palmist, and spent an afternoon recently to visit one in West Philadelphia. She heard what the fortune-teller had to say, but was not satisfied with the results. "Well, well," she asked, impatiently, "and what sort of man will my husband be and when will I meet him?" "O—oh!" half whistled the palmist. "There is no husband in sight; you will remain single all the days of your life." "I'm glad to know it," retorted the young woman. "Now I'll show 'em who I am—I demand that women shall be free and shall no longer be the slaves of a system which deprives them of their rights."

Do Not Dwell in Harmony.

At Station, in Norfolk, a mavis and a blackbird have started housekeeping on the co-operative principle, laying their eggs in the same nest. The same pair of hens tried a similar experiment last year, with dire results to the young mavis, the young blackbirds having gently coaxed them out of the nest into the cold world. But the enterprising parents apparently insist on giving the scheme a fair trial.

Confession From England.

The London Lancet says in horror and disgust: "The present legislative machinery, if it cannot stop the abuse of preservatives, should obviously be scrapped and new works installed." This must be a painful confession against Britain's unflinching boast of honesty.

One of the hardest things in this world for the average man to do is to meet Fortune with a smile while she is giving him a horse laugh.

A FEW NICE THINGS TO EAT

Simple Recipes That Afford Agreeable Change When Appetites Become Jaded.

Yellow Cucumbers—Take six large yellow cucumbers, peel and cut in half, remove seeds and cut in pieces about two inches; add two and a half handfuls of salt and leave stand over night. Next morning wash off and lay pieces on cloth to dry. Put one quart of vinegar on to boil and add three cupsful of sugar. Put in cucumbers, few at a time, have jars ready when cucumber is clear, but not soft, then put in jars; add some white mustard seed and seal.

Pickled Onions—Take a half peck of little white onions, leave in water over night, peel and put in water again over night, adding a handful of salt. Next morning lay onions on cloth to dry. Boil three quarts of vinegar, three tablespoonsful of sugar one-third handful of round allspice four or five bay leaves, one-half handful of whole black pepper. Put onions in jar and cover with the vinegar; add a half teaspoonful of ground red pepper. Tie cloth over to keep steam in.

Dill Pickles—Take one-half peck of dill pickles, 10 cents' worth of dill. Wash pickles and lay a layer of dill on bottom of a one-half gallon jar then a layer of pickles, and so on until all is used, last layer being dill. Cover with enough salt water that will carry an egg. Put plate on top and a stone, so as to keep pickles well under water.

Good Quince Jelly—Take half a peck of quince, wash and cut in quarters and add enough water to cover even, boil till soft, then put in bag and let drain all night. Add a cupful of sugar to every cup of juice. Boil until a little on saucer thickens. You can do the same with grapes, crab apples, and skins of peaches and pears. Do not add water when making grape jelly.

HINTS ABOUT LAUNDRY WORK

How to Starch Dark Materials—To Clean Greasy Pieces—Useful Soap Shredder.

Starching Dark Materials—All black lawn, percale and calico dresses, dark tan and dark blue ones should be dipped in starch in which a cupful of clear coffee and a lump of white wax have been boiled. The coffee will give to the material the original dark finish which is so often destroyed by washing, and the wax will prevent the starch from sticking to the iron.

For Greasy Pieces—A tablespoonful of kerosene added to the water in which any greasy pieces are to be washed will help materially in removing the dirt; rub soap directly on the worst spots and let the garments soak for a short time in soapsuds to which the oil has been added, and then wash.

A Useful Soap Shredder—Take a piece of strong tin, pound small nail holes all over it, then tack firmly to the sides of two pieces of strong wood; a loop of leather at the top by which to hang it up, and you will have a useful soap shredder. Shredded soap dissolves more quickly than larger pieces.

Delicious Chocolate Sauce.

Chocolate sauces are served with any frozen desserts and transforms plain vanilla ice cream into a very rich, delectable dessert. To a plain chocolate sauce you may add fruit flavors, cream eggs, chopped nuts, dried fruits chopped, and have a great variety of very delicious sauces.

Grate or break into small bits two squares of unsweetened chocolate and put it into a saucepan with one cup granulated sugar, two tablespoons of butter, a pinch of salt and half a cup of cold water. Place over the fire and boil rapidly ten minutes. Remove from the fire and add a teaspoon of vanilla and serve hot. If served cold, do not boil quite so long, as it may be too thick.

Rich Doughnuts.

Beat two eggs, add one cup of sugar, one-quarter cup of melted butter, one cup of sour milk, one-half level teaspoon of salt, a level teaspoon of soda and a level teaspoon of cream tartar. The cream tartar should not be omitted, as a small proportion is often used to advantage with sour milk. Mix with flour to make a dough stiff enough to roll out, but be careful not to get too much flour in, for the doughnuts will be dry. Roll out half an inch thick, cut out and fry in deep hot lard.

Roll in powdered sugar when partly cool.

Baked Apples and Nuts.

For a half dozen large apples a good three-fourths cup of nut meats—butter nuts, black walnuts or hickory nuts—will be required. Chop the meats fine and add a half cup of sugar. Core the apples and fill the centers with the nuts and sugar. Bake in a rather deep pan, with a cupful of boiling water added. When tender remove carefully, place in a pretty dish, pour the juice over the apples and crown with whipped cream or a meringue made from the white of two eggs.

Molasses Sauce.

To make molasses sauce, which is an excellent accompaniment to a plain rice or apple pudding, mix together one cupful of molasses, a tablespoonful of vinegar or the juice of one lemon, a saltspoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of butter. Boil ten minutes, Emma Padlock Telford.

Death of the Old Year

FULL knee-deep lies the winter snow,
And the winter winds are wearily sighing,
Toll ye the church bells sad and slow,
And tread softly and speak low,
For the old year lies a-dying.

Old year, you must not die,
You came to us so readily,
You lived with us so steadily,
Old year, you shall not die.

He lieth still; he doth not move,
He will not see the dawn of day,
He hath no other life above,
He gave me a friend and a true, true love,
And the New Year will take 'em away.

Old year, you must not go,
So long as you have been with us,
Such joy as you have seen with us,
Old year, you shall not go.

He froth'd his bumpers to the brim,
A jollier year we shall not see,
But tho' his eyes are waxing dim,
And tho' his foes speak ill of him,
He was a friend to me.

Old year, you shall not die,
We did so laugh and cry with you,
I've half a mind to die with you,
Old year, if you must die.

He was full of joke and jest,
But all his merry quips are o'er,
To see him die, across the waste,
His son and heir doth ride post-haste,
But he'll be dead before.

Every one for his own,
The night is starry and cold my friend,
And the New Year blithe and bold, my friend,
Comes up to take his own.

How hard he breathes! Over the snow
I heard just now the crowing cock,
The shadows flicker to and fro:
The cricket chirps; the light burns low.
Tis nearly twelve o'clock.

Shake hands, before you die,
Old year, we'll dearly rue for you,
What is it we can do for you?
Speak out before you die.

His face is growing sharp and thin,
Alack! our friend is gone,
Close up his eyes; tie up his chin:
Step from the corpse, and let him in
That standeth there alone.

And watch at the door,
There's a new foot on the floor, my friend,
And a new face at the door, my friend,
A new face at the door.

—Tennyson.

A Healthy and Wise New Year

"Resolution No. 1—I will try to become more intelligent concerning my body," says Dr. Jenn Williams in Woman's Home Companion for January, "looking with greater respect upon my physical resources and trying to realize more fully that upon them the force and success of my life largely depend."

"Resolution No. 2—I will arrange, if possible, to supply sufficient pure air for every breath I take, thus better to combat every source of disease that might attack me, to improve my chance for long life and to increase my efficiency."

"Resolution No. 3—I will be kinder to my digestive organs, avoiding all excess and not asking them to struggle with food for which they have repeatedly shown antagonism."

"Resolution No. 4—I will treat my brain and nervous system with greater consideration, and 56 hours of each week shall be devoted to sleep."

"Resolution No. 5—I will try to do in eight hours as much hard work as I should do in one day."

Resolution No. 6—I will devote at least two of the 24 hours to such exercise as I find most beneficial.

"Resolution No. 7—I will give my moral support to every effort, public or private, in behalf of the betterment of health conditions."

The Message of the Bells

The metal tongue of the big bell rings out many changes to our modern ears. In many parts of England the bell which tolls the old year out is called the "Old Lad's Passing bell." In western England the bells peal merrily on "Oak Apple Day," to celebrate the escape of Charles at Boscebel. Another bell, rung at the beginning of Lent, is known as "Pancake Bell," because, in old-time phrase, it "summons people away from their pancakes to confession and fasting." A lively peal of bells is often rung at the end of the Sunday morning service, and is called "Pudding Bell." Perhaps its purpose is to announce to the stay-at-homes that service is over and that the pudding may come out of the oven. Every night at 9:05 "Great Tom," the great bell of Christ Church college at Oxford, booms out its ponderous note 101 times. This particular number was chosen in accordance with the number of students at the foundation of the college.

Shakespearean Mottoes for the New Year

Heaven grant us its peace.—Measure for Measure.

Let each man do his best.—King Henry IV.

Time is the nurse and breeder of all good.—Two Gentlemen of Verona.

Take from my mouth the wish of happy years.—King Richard II.

Time shall unfold what plaited cunning hides.—King Lear.

That it shall hold companionship in peace with honor as in war.—Coriolanus.

Be of good cheer; They shall no more prevail than we give way to.—King Henry VIII.

This lies all within the will of God, To whom I do appeal.—King Henry V.

There's rosemary and rue; these keep Seeming and savour all the winter long.—Winter Tale.

Be just and fear not; Let all the ends thou aim'st at be thy country's, Thy God's and truth's.—King Henry VIII.

METHOD OF RAISING COLTS

Expert Describes Excellent Plan He Follows—Good Pasture and Plenty of Water Needed.

I shall try to describe my method of raising colts. The mares are usually worked until time for foaling. I prefer to have this occur about March 1, which can, in a measure, be controlled by the time of breeding, says a writer in an exchange. When the foals are dropped, I keep the mares in the barn until the colts are strong enough to follow and partly take care of themselves, after which they are turned into a small pasture of tame grass. Here both the mare and colt are left for about two weeks. Then the mares are fed a little grain and the colts soon begin to make rapid growth. Now I turn them into a large pasture through which runs a small stream, and where there are plenty of shade trees. I keep them here until October, when the colts are taken to the barn, halter broken and weaned. Weaning is not difficult, because at this time most mares give little milk, and the colt having eaten grass, can get its nourishment from other sources.

When the halter is first placed on the colt, it is kept tied for about two weeks, then all are allowed to run loose in a large yard inclosed with a high board fence. Now I feed them plenty of hay and give them plenty of water and they always have access to a large stall in the barn. The colts are fastened at night and given grain and hay. I follow this method carefully during the winter, and in spring, as soon as the pastures are green, they are again turned out. Good pasture and plenty of fresh water will keep colts growing and developing rapidly.

It pays to watch the feed and not allow them to become stunted. In the fall they are again taken up and fed on grain and hay. At three years old they are broken to drive, but are not worked until the following year to amount to anything. Overwork may cause injury to young growing colts, and this point should not be overlooked. Fillies are handled in much the same way as geldings.

BEST BREEDS FOR FATTENING

Several Breeds Give Good Results, Such as Wyandottes, Plymouth Rocks and Rhode Island Reds.

All varieties and types of chickens are fattened in this country, no special attention being devoted to developing strains or special types peculiarly adapted to produce a high quality of flesh or to give especially good results in fattening. Several breeds give good results in fattening, and these are preferred by men who make a specialty of feeding poultry in the following order: Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Rhode Island Reds, or, taken as a whole, birds of the general-purpose breeds. The feeders discourage the use of birds of the Mediterranean class, such as the Brown and White Leghorns and the Minorcas, because these birds average poorer results throughout the season in the feeding tests and they mature light, while the trade demands a heavy fowl. In order to make the farmer raise chickens of the first rather than of the second class mentioned, the packer, and consequently the smaller poultry buyer, often pays from 1 to 3 cents a pound less for light-weight hens.

More attention should be paid to buying poultry on a quality basis, thus showing the producer the gain which he may realize by keeping good poultry of the general-purpose breeds and giving the birds proper attention and feed before shipping to market. In some sections the packers have exchanged pure-bred cockerels of the general-purpose breeds for the mongrel and light-weight cocks kept by the farmers, thus rapidly improving the quality of stock in the localities where they obtain their supplies. The Orpingtons, various game crosses, and the Dorking make good poultry for fattening, but are not found in any appreciable numbers in the middle west, although the Orpingtons have increased considerably in the last few years.—U. S. Poultry Bulletin.

A Model Dairy Barn.

Concrete floors and mangers with iron stalls and fittings will make the interior of the new dairy barn at the Columbia, Mo., Agricultural college, one that can be easily cleaned and kept clean. Sunlight, the greatest of all purifiers and disinfectants, will be supplied in abundance through numerous large, well-placed windows. A complete system of ventilation will provide an unlimited amount of pure air is the best insurance on uniform temperature. The combination of cleanliness, sunlight and fresh air is the best insurance on the health of the university dairy herd that can be provided. It adds to the comfort of the herd and insures large returns for food eaten.

Fertilizer for the Orchard.

Fruit growers and fertilizers useful in producing profitable fruit crops. Barnyard manure is good; so are commercial fertilizers when properly used. Fertilizers are seldom applied when orchards are first set, as this is not likely to be needed. Most soils, unless badly run down, produce good growth during the early life of the tree. Fertilizers, if needed, should be applied after the trees begin to bear.

Corn Land in Good Form.

After growing a crop of corn, the soil is always in excellent form to absorb and retain the autumn rains and winter snows.

FORCE OF HABIT OF WAITERS

Wag Perpetrates Joke on Gathering of Leading Men of Switzerland—Everybody Answered.

George C. Boldt, the hotel man, was talking in Philadelphia about the hotels of Switzerland.

"They are good," said Mr. Boldt. "At the price they are remarkably good. The Swiss are a nation of hotel keepers."

"The Alps, you know, draw all the world to Switzerland, and the Switzer who wants to become a millionaire goes into the hotel business as an American would go into steel or sugar. He begins at the bottom; he is a waiter."

"It is said that once in Berne, at a historic public meeting, all the leading men of Switzerland were gathered together. A vote had been taken, and in the intense silence preceding the epoch-making verdict of the tellers a wag shouted 'Waiter!'"

"Instantly the whole assembly rose as one man and answered, 'Yes, sir.'"

Not Saving Them.

Three men, one a German, were smoking together and talking over the topics of the times. An odor not of cigars detracted somewhat from the interest in the conversation and soon became almost unbearable. The German apparently did not mind it, but the other two men began looking around for the cause of the odor, when one of them discovered that it came from the burning cigar band which their German friend had left on his cigar.

"Excuse me, Heinrich," he said, "your cigar band is burning."

"Ach, dank you, old man," the German replied, "I'm not saving dem."—Housekeeper.

No Trouble After All.

One of those young men who walk with their chests out and who swing their arms like great pendulums encountered a man the other day who seemed to be hunting a quarrel.

The big fellow bumped into the other and the man drew his fists up. "Look a-here, are you hunting trouble?" said the strong, big fellow.

"Well, suppose I am?" roared the other, showing signs of being able to take care of himself. "Suppose I am, what then?"

"I was just going to say," came the answer, somewhat meekly, "that if you are, you're wasting your time around here."

HOW TO INDUCE SLEEP

AVOID ALL OPIATES AND OTHER FORMS OF "DOPE."

Light Meal Followed by Moderate Exercise, Well Aired Room and Warm Feet Usually Will Bring Peaceful Slumber.

There are sound hygienic methods by which sleep may be induced. Incursions into the realms of patent medicines, opiates, and all sorts of slumber elixirs which are summed up as "dope," should be avoided. But the moral of this lesson has been pointed over and over, yet little has been said about natural methods of inducing sleep. Under this head does not come the various mental contrivances such as "counting sheep" or reciting the multiplication table.

Oxygen is as necessary to the body cells during the hours of sleep as at any other time. Perhaps in the case of children it is even more necessary. For them sleep means the time of anabolism, growth and repair. The old prejudice against open windows still exists, in spite of the campaigns of education in the newspapers and in the schools. Dust in the rooms, an imaginary draft, the fear of colds, and many other stupid reasons are advanced in excuse of this pernicious prejudice.

The organs of the body also should be considered, and no excessive work should be given the heart or digestive organs before retiring to rest. High pillows lead to an increase in the heart's force at a time when the heart should have the lightest work. Pillows that are too low may cause headaches, and even sleeplessness, through an excess of blood being in the brain. Heavy late suppers are unwise, but a light meal, followed by such moderate exercise as a short walk, is generally conducive to sound sleep. The light meal causes a withdrawal of blood from the head into the stomach area and the body generally. The body is therefore warmed, and this is important.

Cold extremities, particularly cold feet, cause sensory stimulations, which produce sleeplessness, often for hours. People who suffer in this way should take means to keep their feet warm artificially by using sleeping socks, or slipper baths, or by the use of hot water bottles, and by sleeping between blankets.

It is, of course, fatal to sound sleep to go to bed "with anything on the mind." In these sensational and pleasure-loving days we often retire to rest after receiving a long series of vivid sensations which often account for hours of sleepless tossing. Sometimes this may be relieved by a gentle friction of the head with a medium hard brush.

We cannot hope to always drive away the disturbing sensory impulses, for, built as man is, joy, suffering, grief, responsibility and worry (last, but by no means least), must find their place in his life at some time or other. Life without these would be at best a mere existence, and so we must pay the bill at such times. And even then fatigue must cause sleep or loss.

It may be wise not to be too particular about noises when little children are asleep. At some future time they may be thankful for learning to sleep while a certain amount of noise is going on. For instance, there is no reason why they should not be accustomed to sleep while a piano is being played in another room in the house.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Did Not Fill the Bill. Old Lady.—There is one thing I notice particularly about that young man who calls to see you. He seems to have an inborn, instinctive respect for women. He treats every woman as though she were a being from a higher sphere, to be approached only with the utmost delicacy and deference. Granddaughter (sweet eighteen).—Yes, he's horridly bashful.—New York

Free From Prejudice. A begging friar came to me one day with a subscription for repairing his convent. "Ah, but I am a heretic," said I. "Undoubtedly," with a shrug, implying a respectful acknowledgment of a foreigner's right to choose warm and dry lodgings in the other world as well as in this, "but your money is perfectly orthodox."—From Lowell's "Fireside Travels."

Made the Dream True. A Blackburn (Eng.) man has proved himself a strong believer in dreams. A few nights ago his young son dreamt that he saw his father run over by a motor wagon, and next day the man, after writing on a piece of paper, "My child's dream," threw himself in front of a motor wagon and was killed.

Church Barrel Organ. Speaking at a Llangollen meeting, the bishop of St. Asaph recalled that he held his first church appointment at Llangollen. The music to accompany the choir was then supplied by a barrel organ. As a boy he churned it out by regularly turning the handle. —Westminster Gazette.

Almost Incredible Age. Ninea Turataviloff, a peasant woman at Telev, in the Caucasus, is probably the oldest person in the world. Recently she celebrated her one hundred and sixty-fifth birthday. Though she is now quite incapable of using her limbs, she is still in possession of her mental faculties.

A Cough Medicine

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a regular cough medicine, a strong medicine, a doctor's medicine. Good for easy coughs, hard coughs, desperate coughs. If your doctor endorses it for your case, take it. If not, don't take it. Never go contrary to his advice.

We publish our formulas. We banish alcohol from our medicines. We urge you to consult your doctor.

The dose of Ayer's Pills is small, only one at bedtime. As a rule, laxative doses are better than cathartic doses. For constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, sick-headaches, they cannot be excelled. Ask your doctor about this.

Where Woman's Voice is Heard. What a great country is Australia. It is a country where one can get things done and no words about it. No back talk. The ladies of Melbourne, they of the tight-skirt persuasion, have found a difficulty in mounting the steps of the street cars, and now the authorities have ordered that the steps be lowered so that the foot need not be raised beyond the limitations imposed by fashion. And we call ourselves a free country.

If you use Eye Salve use the best. PETTIT'S EYE SALVE is the standard, is reliable and costs no more than inferior goods that are unknown. Blind Conservatism. There is always a certain meanness in the argument of conservatism, joined with a certain superiority in its fact. It affirms because it holds. Its fingers clutch the fact, and it will not open its eyes to see a better fact. —Emerson.

TALE OF BURIED GOLD

BULLET MADE SOLDIER FORGET THE PLACE OF HIDING.

Memory Returned Before His Death, and Son Now is Searching for Treasure Concealed Prior to the Civil War.

The story of a wound received in the Civil war which sealed the hiding place of a fortune for more than half a century and of a strange trick of fate which cleared the hider's memory in the evening of his life was brought to Los Angeles by the hider's son, J. K. Anderson of New Orleans, who is at the Van Nuys en route to the old placer mining fields of California.

Anderson's father joined in the gold rush and was one of the miners of the "49" days. He located a claim in Placer county near Auburn and Newcastle. Within a year he had snatched from the river bottoms a fortune. Then the call of the south for volunteers reached him. He buried the gold beneath the adobe blocks of a tavern in the vicinity of his claim.

Anderson says that his father was struck in an engagement with the Union troops by a bullet which tore open his scalp and robbed him of his memory for 50 years. During that time the son says the parent was like a child, with all knowledge of the hiding place of the gold gone. Before he died a year ago his memory of the gold rush returned to him and he was living again in the past that preceded his part in the conflict.

It was during these last moments that the old man told his son and the mother where he had buried what he claimed was a fortune. The son is hurrying to unearth, if possible, the buried treasure. Anderson said: "My father said he buried the gold under a corner of an old adobe tavern patronized by the miners in the early days. This tavern was in Long Valley at a point half way, I have learned, between the present town of Newcastle and Auburn. I have learned through correspondence that a family by the name of Scott occupies the tavern as a farmhouse and that the country around it is devoted to the raising of citrus fruits.

"No one has disturbed the original lines of the building. The adobe blocks are heavy. I have obtained permission from the owners to prosecute my search and will give them a share of my findings. Otherwise I would have to buy the property."

Anderson is a civil engineer. He was engaged by the government for some time in work on the Panama canal, but has left his employment to search for the treasure which he maintains his father has hidden in the old placer mining fields of California.—Los Angeles Herald.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 25.—The California Business College Managers' Association will hold its next quarterly meeting at Santa Rosa, December 29. Mr. T. B. Bridges, Manager of Heald's Business College of Oakland, who is President of the Association, is enthusiastic about the splendid improvement in the Private Business Colleges of this State. Through the efforts of the Business College Managers' Association, desirable conditions have been brought about, and today it can truthfully be said that California as a State is without a peer in Business Education.

Child of Genius. An actor was talking at the Players' Club in New York about David Belasco's skill as a stage manager. "Belasco," said the actor, "has a superhuman sense of the harmonies, the fitnesses of things. This enables him to carry out a stage scene to such small details as no man ever dreamed of before.

"Belasco, even in his childhood, possessed this unique sense of harmony. An uncle once gave him a couple of chocolate cigars, then said to the little boy: "What are you going to do with them, David?" "I'll go and eat them in the smoking room," was the prompt reply."

Bismarck Was Superstitious. The great Prince Bismarck was not without superstition and this always was noticeable on the eve of the new year. From nine o'clock that night until after midnight he would not take water in any circumstances from a glass. It was an ancient tradition in the chancellery's family that anyone who set the legend at defiance would pass through a serious illness.

A New Jinnricksha. A one-wheeled jinnricksha, on the motorcycle principle, is being introduced among the Chinese of the Malay states. It is said to be safe, and to have many advantages over the old-fashioned vehicle. The wear and tear is reduced to a minimum, the work on the pulleys reduced and speed increased.

Whistling Kettle. A new whistling kettle has a long, narrow neck at the top, by which it is both filled and emptied. This is covered by a cap the length of the neck, and at the top of this is a whistle which acts directly the kettle boils by reason of the steam passing through it.

Facts for Weak Women

Nine-tenths of all the sickness of women is due to some derangement or disease of the organs distinctly feminine. Such sickness can be cured—is cured every day by

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

It Makes Weak Women Strong, Sick Women Well.

It acts directly on the organs affected and is at the same time a general restorative tonic for the whole system. It cures female complaint right in the privacy of home. It makes unnecessary the disagreeable questioning, examinations and local treatment so universally insisted upon by doctors, and so abhorrent to every modest woman.

We shall not particularize here as to the symptoms of those peculiar affections incident to women, but those wanting full information as to their symptoms and means of positive cure are referred to the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser—1008 pages, newly revised and up-to-date Edition, sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only; or, in cloth binding for 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Veneered Furniture.

In these days of the veneered furniture, when the buyer chooses only that piece of quartered oak that shows the most flake in the cut, it is well to make it a point to never allow water or liquid long to remain on the surfaces, this especially of tables, for it is liable to reach the glue beneath this paper-like surface, and later when drying out make it lift and bulge, to repair which only an expert is capable. Dampness can easily reach it almost unknowingly by placing on it a vase or jar which has in it some cool substance that might make moisture collect on the outer side and leak to the table top. This should be guarded against, as varnished surfaces become opaque and this more often than the veneer bulging, which happening is verily a calamity.

Took Offense.

"What made that woman crazy?" "I happened to step on her train." "Well?" "Then I raised my hat politely and said: 'Excuse me, madam, your equilibrator is dragging,' and she lost her temper."

Ever have a good old fashioned stomach ache? Of course you have. A dose or two of Hamlin's Wizard Oil will chase all the colicky pains out of your stomach in no time.

One Kind of Greatness.

There is a kind of greatness which does not depend upon fortune; it is a certain manner that distinguishes us, and which seems to destine us for great things; it is the value we incessantly set upon ourselves; it is by this quality that we gain the deference of other men, and it is this which commonly raises us more above them than birth, rank or even merit itself. —La Rochefoucauld: "Reflections."

Man and His Opportunities.

Innumerable men and women had seen the kettle boil, but it occurred to only one that the force which lifted the light might be confined and made to do human service. The man finds or makes his opportunities, and in turn they help to make him.—Blethor Spalding.

Just Waiting.

Very tart was Douglas Jerrold's retort to a would-be wit who, having fired off all his stale jokes with no effect, exclaimed: "Why, you never laugh when I say a good thing!" "Don't I?" said Jerrold. "Only try me with one."

DO YOU WANT A GOLD WATCH OR TALKING MACHINE FREE?

We have established a Mail Order Department in connection with our Piano and Talking Machine business, and for a short time only we will offer ABSOLUTELY FREE a fine $20.00 guaranteed gold-filled watch, or a $20.00 new style hornless talking machine to any school girl or boy who will send us the name and address of any one to whom we can sell a piano within thirty days from the date of your sending us the name.

We are selling a $225.00 standard, high grade, upright Piano for $100.00 and another $350.00 style for $215.00—both fully guaranteed. The Late Homer A. Craig Is Laid to Final Rest

Funeral Services Conducted at Home of Son in Berkeley

In the presence of a large gathering of sorrowing friends of the bereaved family and in the midst of a wealth of floral offerings which gave silent testimony of the love and esteem in which the decedent was held, the last rites over the bier of the late Homer A. Craig were performed last Friday and the body laid to final rest in the Berkeley Cemetery. The funeral services were conducted at the home of Dr. Homer T.
Craig on Grove street and an eloquent eulogy was pronounced by the Rev.
William Friend, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The obsequies were simple yet impressive and friends were present from various sections of the State to pay their respects.

W. Whitehead, F. J. Currier and P. B.
Payne together with the three sons of the decedent, Dr. Homer T., Woodson L., and Emmett Craig officiated as the pallbearers.
Mr. Craig died suddenly while addressing the State Fruitgrowers' Convention in Santa Rosa Tuesday afternoon, and his loss is mourned by citizens throughout all parts of California.

F. F. Atkinson Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Atkinson of Sun-side enjoyed a visit from their children and grandchildren who came from Oakland last Sunday morning and remained over Christmas. They were Mrs. Nettie Davis and husband and four children,
Mrs. Effie Ayers and husband, and Fred Atkinson with wife and two children.
They brought with them many nice presents and also much cheer to their parents. They expressed their delight with the country around Campbell and Sunnyside, and took away many souvenir photos of the town.

Congregational Church

The theme for Sunday morning will be "The Greatness of Christ." Christian Endeavor meeting, the last of the year, will be led by Mrs. Myra Payne. At the evening service at 7:30, there will be another of our popular Stereopticon evenings. This time taking us to visit "Child Life in many Lands." Come and see the children of foreign countries, their dresses, plays, etc. All are most cordially invited to worship with us.

Prize Bantams

At the recent show at Petaluma, E.
Lisle Keesling's Buff Cochins Bantams took several prizes, as follows: First, cockerel; first and second, pullets; third and fourth, cocks; third and fourth, hens.
The seven prizes were won on seven entries. At the recent poultry show in Oakland Mr. Keesling's Bantams took first cockerel and first and third pullets, out of three entries. There were large classes of each sex at both shows.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure.

New Coast Record in Bowling

J. C. Davidson, who was a recent visitor in Campbell as a guest of his sister-in-law, Mrs. A. B. Chamberlin, has just established a new coast record for high score bowling. The San Francisco Post prints the following:

When J. C. Davidson, bowling for the Schlitz team in the San Francisco Bowling League a few days ago, rolled 289 in one of his games, he established a new Coast record for high score in a match bowling game. And he just fell short of a world's record—300 points, or a perfect score. For ten straight frames he had perfect control of his ball and swept the alley as clear of pins as if he had been using a big broom. His eleventh ball looked like another perfect strike when it started down the alley. The big crowd gathered around looked out with hated breath. The ball hit the head-pin just as a strike ball should and the pin toppled over—all but one. It toppled, swayed a minute this way and that, quivered and then the pesky pin gradually righted itself. Davidson viciously knocked it down with his next ball for a spare and then followed with another strike, giving him 289 points. Had that one pin fallen over Davidson would have gained the goal for which all bowlers strive—a perfect score. It cannot be beaten and it is only rarely, and usually in practice games, that it is equalled.

Davidson is comparatively new to the game of ten pins, but he has a so-called "natural ball" and he has had great success. He probably will be one of San Francisco's representatives in the Western Bowling Congress to be held in Los Angeles this winter.

Just to show that his performance was not a fluke, when his friends began twitting him the next day, Davidson came back and rolled five straight 200 games, running up as high as 264 in one of them. He now holds the high score record in the City Bowling League and will undoubtedly get the prize, as only a 300 score can beat his mark.

"I can't describe the style of ball I throw," commented Davidson today,
"but I guide it just as it starts down the alley with the tip of my third finger. If I see it is started for a head-on split I curve it a little to the side; if it starts too far to one side I curve it into the head pin."

E. F. Woodhull has been blasting out trees with dynamite this week. About 100 trees have been removed in this manner. Dynamite not only lifts the tree and roots from the ground but kills all manner of insects and eggs and also loosens up the ground in good shape for planting young trees.

The Question of Glasses

Are they needed or not?
The question is easily answered by those who can't see well without them, but for a great many who see well and still suffer from the effect of eye-strain it can only be decided after a careful examination. Such an examination I am prepared to give you, and an honest opinion as to what is needed. No operation. No drugs. No glasses unless necessary.
